The YouGov survey of 1541 adults has found that the NHS is still the “issue” around which opposition parties can base their attacks on Labour, ahead of next year’s general election. “The NHS is the issue and the NHS gets in the way of Theresa May continuing with the plans for social care she has put forward,” said Margot James, the Labour MP for Stourbridge. Other leading Labour MPs in the general election campaign said the same, as did senior politicians from the Conservatives. The issue is “massive
