This is a naval themed turn-based strategy game. The game has several unique features. Free to play option: The game is free to play. You will not spend anything. You will be able to use all features of the game. There will be no annoying time or resource limits. Dynamic Campaigns: There are always several campaigns for you to play. The game will remember where you left off. Advanced turn controls: The game has advanced turn control system. The game also comes with a tutorial and other tools designed to make you more comfortable with the game. Cross Platform: Cross-platform play is available: you can play with your friends on multiple platforms. Monsters: Battles are against optional fleets of monsters that will occasionally appear on the map. Monsters can change size and their placement on the map will alter their resistance to various nations and their strength. Big, small, ships and helicopters: You can fight all naval vessels ranging from small fishing boats, transport ships to big battleships in the game. An advance naval force: When you reach the higher ranks of naval warfare you will be able to call for several naval units. They will arrive to your location in waves. The game will play several matches to complete the campaign depending on the difficulty. Each campaign map will have some various levels of difficulty. If you lose one map, you will start the next one. The same flags as the real naval units: You will be able to fight with ships that will look like the real ships you can see in real life. Each in game naval unit will have an icon on the screen. When you look at this icon the game will play the right animation. Advanced graphics: Realistic 3D graphics with advanced smoke and water. Advanced audio: Realistic sound effects. Detailed maps: Detailed maps on all main nations. Each map has several islands to navigate. Detailed in game log: Detailed events and battles will be logged for each map. Problems and bugs: Fixed 3D battle camera. Fixed naval combat camera. Fixed naval movement camera. Fixed fog coming off screen. Fixed low skill point cost of various naval units. Fixed naval unit currency cost. Fixed some issues of some special naval units (No balls for example).

Ship building in Naval Action is going back in time from April, 1911 when Dreadnought was first launched. You will see fully constructed ships of each nation while fighting in the battles. Flags collection is a permanent unlock that allows you to use unique historical flags of your nation in battles. If you change nation the available set of flags that you can use will automatically update to a new nation. The collection includes: - Historical hand drawn flags of all in game nations. You will only be able to use flags of your current nation. If you change nation the available set of flags that you can use will automatically update to a new nation. - Ships of every nation during the naval battles. - Naval base and other resources required to build ships. - NPCs and pirates that will appear in the nation and country flags. - There are 70+ flags included in the collection. About Naval Action: Naval Action: Flags is a real time strategy naval combat game, where you'll command your nation's fleet of ships. You'll be fighting with enemies, nation-states, and pirates with a variety of weapons and equipment while on the move and in battle, waiting for the right moment to strike and perform extraordinary maneuvers. At the beginning of each game you'll choose a nation, which you'll have to defend against attacks from other nations. The game's campaign will last about 30-40 matches, with each match lasting for about 5-10 minutes. If you like board games, you can expect the game to take around 2-3 hours to complete. Community Rating 7.5 out of 10 stars.15 total votes. This page contains pressable and share buttons. - New 'Contemporary Flags' collection. In this collection we will be adding unique flags of countries that aren't actually in the game. The flags from this collection will be available for use in battles in the same way as standard national flags (which are already in the game). These flags are drawn by Mathew at the request of community. The collection includes 12+ unique flags of Europe, China and United States. Controversial additions include the Italian flag and the American flag of the Confederate States. The flags will be available for free for a limited time. Once the free time ends the flags will become permanent. We strongly believe that it would be the right thing to show the feelings of Italian and Confederate sympathizers, which we respect. How to activate. The flags will be added to your Steam account on purchase. Client restart will be required. Open "Flags" section in port interface. Select the flag you want to sail under and click apply. Flag will be visible in battles.

Gameplay Contemporary Flags: - Art - new art and sound effects for ship boarding ships to be displayed in the port. - New character models. - A new set of variety in military uniforms. - New texturing. - new model of the 4th race, marines and battleships.

, Art, Gadgets, Fun & Games! The aim is to display naval action material, but with a wider appeal. Hence the mix of "naval" related flags, articles and games. All are browser freindly and viewable on the ABC (Australian Broadcasting Commission) web site. We're all about casual hobby based on a love of the sea and naval past. The Seven Seas Fleet (2007) I am a severe storm aficionado to the extent that photos and videos taken (for the most part) from my own

decks often amuse and delight my friends. They even become aware that they have to watch out for me due to the injuries I may inflict (often making the stories funnier because one is unaware of the enormity of my size). I can look at some things with a completely untroubled expression, others make me laugh - often hard and often long. So, as a result, I have taken to writing (in my "day job"), video editing (as a hobby) and film making (as a hobby or a passion). I have made three short films to date. The other videos are listed on my videos page. The third (and current) edition of The Seven Seas Fleet was not a tough test as far as producing it was concerned. It is no different to what I used in the previous two. The whole organisation was streamlined and I did not need to send my crew off and go it alone. Hence the high confidence level within the crew as everything ran smoothly (for the most part) and we did not want for much as far as travel, accommodation and food was concerned. And there were a few bits of equipment that did not survive the weekend, but that's all part of the adventure. This edition features the crews of Jack & Alan (see below) and also of Captain Ben, whilst highlighting the work of fellow seagoing friends. There are images taken between Sydney and Melbourne (and the Caribbean and the South Pacific) in the weeks prior to the actual racing. Many thanks to the crew in the following shots and those not already listed. It is a quiet, measured and sedate voyage of exploration, developed to be a revisit to the waters of the Southern Ocean. Jack's Log: The reprise of last year's Northern Passage expedition is a result of a requirement by some of my travelling companions to revisit the Southern Ocean on the way home to Christmas Island (and thus Australia). Accordingly, last
