As this is a beginner tool, the article will guide you through the basic process of editing images with Photoshop Elements and get you started. Photoshop and Photoshop Elements are both of excellent quality and, in my experience, the two are almost equal. The vast majority of websites, blogs, Facebook pages and advertisements that you see are still created using Photoshop Elements. What's Life Got to Do With It? "What's Life Got to Do With It?" is a song written by Tom Waits and Gary Miller, published in 1959. Waits and Miller co-wrote the song as an instrumental track. Waits' initial version was released as a 78 single record in 1960 for the independent label Barking Spider, produced by Gene Vincent's GPO label. The single's B-side, "Nothing Is Down", was also written by Waits and Miller. Both songs were instrumental, with Waits and the Blue Mountain Boys on vocals. When the song was recorded for the Waits album Closing Time, released in 2008, the title was changed to "All I Want to Do". The album's title was changed to The Heartless Bastards after that point.
