Features Key:

5 Games

3 Frequent Quiz's

Easy to play but no Compromises on difficulty

Introduction

1. Solitaire is a classic Board game where players try to match cards from a deck of 52 cards.
2. This Game is good for beginners and I've designed it to be quite easy to learn.

What's in the game?

- Solitaire is a 2 player game & 2 AI (play against machine) & 4 Difficulty Levels to try. The rules are quite simple only complex for beginners but players I would say don't need to have played any board games, can just enjoy this.
- You can also click the timer at top to start a timer for as long as you'd like.
- The gameplay is easy to get the hang of but many combinations of cards gives a lot of choices to learn. The set cards are all random so you can train online against a human or AI at the same time and see which one do you think you are better at.

How to play

1. Click 'Play' to start a game
2. Select one of 5 different game rules by clicking 'Select Rule' or 'Rule'
3. Click the shuffle button on left side to shuffle the cards
4. Hit 'Start' button to start the timer counting down the 15 seconds, hit the button to stop
5. Click the blue timer after you selected a board or game
6. To end the game click timer or press any button on the right panel
7. Many combinations of cards may appear so you can train online against a human or AI at the same time by picking up which one do you think you are better at and then see how you do.
8. If you don't like any random results don't worry you can always click 'Shuffle'

Guide the princess to safety within the labyrinth. The princess is trapped in the labyrinth, and the evil King Cat is determined to find her. Your mission is to help the princess escape the labyrinth by solving the riddles that block her path. If you succeed, you'll earn experience points to collect more gold and increase your abilities!

----- CHARACTER RATING

----- Dragon: 5/5(!!!) You'll find monsters, traps, items, weapons, and of course plenty of hidden gold! Giant: 5/5 If you find the right items and get through the traps, you can safely beat these monsters. Bear: 3/5 Slower than the Dragon or Giant, but it has the lowest defense. Elf: 3/5 Like the Dragon, but you can find the Diamond. Elvis: 5/5 An animal that trades gold in exchange for equipment. Can be found a few levels below the surface. Cat: 5/5 A cat that likes wearing animal pelts, and rides on a magic carpet. The dirtier the pet, the better. Helen: 2/5 Helen can deal heavy damage by her use of magic. And she's a girl. So you know, girls and swords don't mix very well. Giggles: 3/5 When Lise tells him to do something, Giggles obeys... like a little puppy. But when you ask him to attack, he's more likely to defend. Little Giggles: 2/5 Giggles' little brother. He's basically the same as his big brother except he can't do magic. Bob: 2/5 Bob is the potato-boy of the Knights. He's a bit shy and quiet, but he's your friend. Lise: 2/5 Boss/Heroine of the game. She plays the violin, and is a bit of a pacifist. Fiona: 2/5 Fiona is a female elf, and she's similar to Lise in looks, but a bit more frail. Kendall: 2/5 Kendall is a dragon that carries crystals. She's a bit naive, and thinks she can solve everything by using her intuition. Junior Pixie: 2/5 She's Lise's little sister.

---

She's c9d1549cdd

The purpose of this blog is to share my writing and record my thoughts and reflections as I grow in my craft and seek to share that with others. I initially started this for my book club, but decided to open it up to everyone. I am also dedicating this blog to those who have committed suicide, not only because they lost their life but also to let those who are suicidal know they are not alone. Tuesday, June 26, 2012 Cupcakes... Well, I can't say that everything is peaches and cream... In the last few days we have a lot going on. This past Saturday my grandmother died and with that has come grief. Yesterday my mother-in-law got in a serious car accident, effectively causing our family to be apart while we prepare for her funeral. Then today my husband's parents had a massive heart attack. As I've told John I really shouldn't have to go through this and I'm heartbroken because I love the Golden Retrievers. Yet I am glad he is here with me and I can be comforted that I lived through my mother's heart attack and knowing what I do, she has a good chance of surviving even if she does have a minimal stroke (nothing in the right brain and her being 80). The morning following that big event started out well. When I got to the house I saw a note on the table and said, "were is everyone?" That was when I turned on the news and saw the Golden Retriever I work with on television news. My mother's friend just left her saying she wasn't going to make it. I cried and then washed my face off. Before that note was dug out of my purse, the phone rang and it was my mother about my grandmother. They were on the same page. They are all in agreement: not a chance of surviving the surgery. I hung up. I knew that before the surgery started and it was a relief to be out of the inconclusive territory. Hearing my mother's voice and having a final decision was very comforting. Last night I went down to the hospital the Golden Retriever is in to visit him and Mom and Dad. My mother was there as a witness but it wasn't too hard for me to tell that her mind was going, more so than Mom's. It was a

The current god of Venge has stolen the powers of all Gods from their respective temples and is trying to take the throne from them. Venge must venture around his city, which has been turned into a horrifying place where he'll encounter different environments and creatures. You play as Venge as he walks around his city, searching for the stolen loot, The key to freeing himself from the curse. In order to run around, you'll need to collect GEMS. Each Gem is a usable item. Some are used to activate specific things around the city, while others are used to help you along the way. Every Gem, after collection, is placed in the World Data which you can view from your phone or computer. You can use the World Data, and the items you've collected, to navigate the world. There are 50 locations to explore. Each location has a set of GEMS that you can collect and the ones collected will be placed in the World Data. So as you explore, you can collect the ones you need, but you need to know what they do as well. Game Modes: Gems have to be collected in order to perform actions. You can either find them in the world by searching, or you can buy them from shops. The items are different for each location, so you'll need to collect the ones needed for each location. More gems will be available the
