FilterZen [Win/Mac]

FilterZen is a SharePoint Web Part that delivers a rich set of features and functionality in an easy to use interface that makes it simple and quick to create powerful and sophisticated SharePoint lists, forms, and portals Create supercharged webparts as well as a JQuery WebPart. Add a JQuery script file, fwrite.js, to your project along with a webpart file called MyNewWebpart.aspx. Put some of the controls you already have into the webpart. Remove the default webpart's.ascx and.html. In the MyNewWebpart.aspx.cs, make a control for adding and removing controls to the webpart. Add controls to the webpart as you see fit. Add a button control to your page and bind it to the add button on the webpart. Save the webpart and test it out. This is not a tutorial for creating a JQuery webpart. That's a topic for another day.

What the Steps Do: You add the script file to your project, you add some of your own controls, you remove the default controls. You make a webpart and save it, and you make a custom button to add the webpart to the page. In the code of your webpart, you can add any controls or components you want. You can add comments or placeholders in the code. You can add directives to your script file to load javascript libraries, and you can put your code in functions for convenience. You can add any external controls you want to the webpart. You can make it look however you want with a grid or static control. You can add a jQuery AutoComplete component. You can add a jQuery DatePicker component. You can add whatever your heart desires. You can also set access privileges to control what people can add, so you can add jQuery components that can't be added by people without specific privileges. When you get to the controls, try to put your own controls in the webpart. For example, you might make a textbox that contains your hyperlink to a document. Create a webpart and add a web service Create an.ascx (control), view, or

the page Add a Javascript OnClientLoad function to FilterZen is a web part for SharePoint which allows you to use advanced filtering of your business data. The FilterZen Web Part is part of the SharePoint Framework which provides more than 100 prebuilt out of the box SharePoint Web Parts that can be used within WebParts provided by other SharePoint extensibility models such as plugins. FilterZen has its own Data Views, but it can also be used as a Plugin for any data view in SharePoint. Because it is a web part, FilterZen can be used as "page column filter" and for other purposes as well. You can see more information on the FilterZen Web Part, including installation instructions and documentation at This entry is part of the following two posts:

What's New in the?

FilterZen is a commercial component that enables you to add unparalleled filtering functionality to your site, either through WSS, MOSS, or custom web applications. Now you can develop new filtered views on data on the fly, without the pain of merging, massaging, integrating and formatting lists. FilterZen includes a lightweight, but powerful ActiveX-based Filter WebPart that provides the most comprehensive list of filter types ever made available to end users. A WCF-based API offers complete filter programmability. Even in simple terms of usage, FilterZen is a more powerful alternative to Microsoft's own list views, and fully supports the specification of Views and Lists. Key Features: * Split screen layouts with source and target lists * One-click, browser-based Save & Share * Capable of BDC filtering (with an optional server-side WCF API) * Automatically maps between custom list source and target data sources * Type drop-down allows you to apply user filters to pages * Allows you to filter lists of a master / child settings * Enables implementing own views from a custom User Interface * Allows customizing your own visualisations * Universal Filter Web Part for all versions of SharePoint 2007 (WSS 3.0 and

MOSS 2007 Standard + Enterprise) * Automatically maps between various data sources *
Supports several types of filters:
Page request, List Lookup, SQL Data, BDC Business Data, User filters, Date filters, page column, choice filters and text filters.
Also can be used for AutoComplete, Forenames
(results only), item numbers (general purpose) and so on * Create and manage custom views in your web application * Filtering can be bulk-ed, delegated or single-linked to various pages * You can connect your views to various data sources, for example: one view to a SQL Server database table, another one to a SharePoint list *

Allows implementing column filters, advanced filters and many other popular special filters * And it's extensible!

Installation and configuration: *

Upload FilterZen.exe and FilterZenWebPart.dll to your web server and install to your Solution in an existing site collection or a site created using wss_installnewfeature.txt * Edit the host web application to add FilterZen's web part * Configure

a list definition to use FilterZen * Configure a page definition to use FilterZen's web
