

Videos playback was not completed due to error "Media file is corrupt. Please try again." I tried to run the same code in my new(local) machine. I am testing this app in my local machine(windows 10). It gave me correct video path. the problem is the same video path in Android device. It gives me "Media file is corrupt. Please try again." Can you please help me on this?? Any help would be appreciated. Thanks in advance. A: Your code assume that if there's a video file accessible by MediaPlayer class you can play it. The path in your code is valid but if you want to use it for different device you should check if the path is accessible. For example, if you want to use it for iOS device you could check if the file path has extension.mp4 in it and create your own DirectoryList to store all possible extensions like that. Another approach is to check if your current device is an iOS and the android device has different model than iPhone. For example, my code below detects the type of device I am running on. //begin: detect the device type try { // First, check if the file exists on SD card String videoFilePath = Environment.getExternalStorageDirectory() + "/AppVideo/" + mVideoFileName; // If the file exists, check if it is a video or a video extension if (new File(videoFilePath).isFile()) { // try to open the file if (new File(videoFilePath).isFile() && new File(videoFilePath).canRead()) { // do what you want Uri path = Uri.parse(videoFilePath); MediaPlayer mp = MediaPlayer.create(this, path); // do what you want
