Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a remote control device for a machine and an engine system having the remote control device for a machine and an engine system. More specifically, the present invention relates to a remote control device for a machine and an engine system that is installed on a working machine such as a teleworking machine or a mining machine. 2. Description of the Related Art Remote control units (remote controllers) that remotely control machines such as mobile vehicles, construction vehicles, agricultural machines, and the like are known. Japanese Unexamined Patent Application Publication No. 2010-241294 describes a remote controller that is installed in a machine in which the remote control unit receives information from a machine controller and transmits control information to the machine controller via an antenna. However, there are cases in which the remote controller is provided in the machine such as an agricultural machine or a construction machine, and the remote controller receives information on the condition of the machinery from the machine controller and transmits the control information to the machine controller via the antenna. In this case, the remote control unit located in the machine may receive noise other than signal transmission from the machine controller. If this noise is received, the remote control unit may erroneously receive information about the machine such as the condition of the machinery and transmit the erroneous information to the machine controller via the antenna. Therefore, there is a need to minimize the possibility that noise other than the signal from the machine controller is transmitted to the remote control device.PROGRAM SYNOPSIS: All shows are listed in chronological order of production.
