On the other hand, perhaps a little less caustic humor should be offered regarding the state of diplomacy and world affairs. Whether the joke is laced with a defense of the president's accomplishments, as it is usually delivered, or a suggestion that the president has done well thus far, there is much that needs to be said to dispel the myths and many misperceptions about

I am trying to install the webcam driver for my webcam on a Redhat 5.5 machine (The documentation (recommends that there is a HAL library, linux.karma.webcam.acer-cam.030n.c/video.c. I tried installing the libhal-devel, but I have some dependency problems. According to the RPM spec: Requires: libhal(x86-32) This problem is preventing me from installing the HAL libraries. The packages libhal-devel, libhal1, libhal1-dev, libhal1-x11 are all showing as broken. How do I fix this? Is there a way to install this required package, or is there a way to tell Redhat to use an alternative location for its packages? This article reconstructs the history of compulsory sterilization in France, starting with the "second opinion" in 1907, and finishing with the beginning of a century of "changes" in 1984. It was discovered that during the 1950s and 1960s, two thirds of the 60,000 such operations performed were medically necessary. All the sterilizations performed after that time were deemed medically inadmissible, and the number of these sterilizations was restricted to 300 a year. The article discusses the law and the medical devices used until now, and considers who can be sterilized, on what criteria, and what measures are
