Music: "Killer on the Cross" by The Legacy Allstars We made it to North Carolina and are in Asheville tonight. In case you were wondering... we are in the airport of a city with more shops than we have so far seen in this trip. We also have a new shirt and jacket. It is a two-piece suit, baby blue and grey. It has a fly front and does not button up in the back. The scenery was beautiful today as we drove through the mountains near the city. We also had a chance to visit another large university today, the University of North Carolina Asheville. The campus is very well kept and had signs warning students to be careful of pick-pockets. Some people in the group today even felt like they had not received the treatment they should. It took us a couple hours to get a bite to eat and find a restroom. Dang. If it took you two hours, then you've got to love college life. We are going to get another chance to rest early this evening. We are going to have a stop at Tommy's Barbecue in Asheville. We usually eat at Arby's or McDonalds when we have time or money to spend, but this is a good treat. We'll be back soon... hopefully we don't get lost on the way to the next stop.Q: 6d1f23a050
