
Rave Report 11 Keygen 12 !!HOT!!

hi mike, i am having the same problem. my solution so far is to have ravesoftproject.designer.pas and the rave component in my app. when i create the app, ravesoftproject is set to false.i set the loaddesigner property of the rave component to true, then when i open the end user report designer, i set it to false again. i then close the report and open the same app. this works for me. hope this helps,thanks hi all, after a lot of sweat and tears, i have finally got the rave 11.0.7 end-user report designer to load. i used the steps in rod's post to guide me. i will be doing a detailed post on my solution later, but if anyone has any suggestions as to how to make the report designer load without having to delete the designer component, or if anyone has experienced any of the other problems with rave 11.7, i would be very grateful if you could post here.thanks for all the help.mike hi mike, i am having the same problem. my solution so far is to have ravesoftproject.designer.pas and the rave component in my app. when i create the app, ravesoftproject is set to false.i set the loaddesigner property of the rave component to true, then when i open the end user report designer, i set it to false again. i then close the report and open the same app. this works for me. hope this helps, when you look at the reports in the windows explorer, you will see the report is a collection of visuals, layouts and bits of knowledge that you can utilize to make a report. a report is a collection of data that you need to demonstrate to the client. for a regular report, the report data is presented in the report in a visual manner, and the user must see the data to be able to analyze it. when you want to make your report an active component of your application, the report should also include a database table to store the data.
