Apt-X is an anti-virus solution that specializes in software (or "infected item") prevention, and will automatically detect and remove both known and unknown threats from your system. The good news for an anti-virus solution is that the detection is almost always faster than traditional registry-based virus scanners. And while the detection of the previous releases was considerably better than other solutions, the detection of this version is outstanding. A much better experience for users who are used to dealing with virus detection in the past. Also, the built-in Speed mode allows you to remove the files in a pre-determined order without stopping the removal process. If you want more than just a basic antivirus solution but the best-in-class protection, then we recommend the licensed version of Trend Micros Smart Protection Suite. Just as with Trend Micros PC Client, this solution provides excellent protection without the need to perform any manual setup. 5ec8ef588b
