warhammer 40,000: dawn of war dark crusade makes up the second big dlc for warhammer 40,000: dawn of war, and the second expansion for the strategy game called "dark crusade". the sequel to the original "dark crusade" (2007) and both expansions for "dark crusade: armageddon" (2008) and "dark crusade: the final crusade" (2009) are based on some of the events from the first third of the new testament of the bible. the second "dark crusade" is set almost 2000 years after the events of the first "dark crusade". the primary setting for warhammer 40,000: dawn of war: dark crusade is a galactic era when humanity waged war against the space marine legions of the emperor's space marines. first "dark crusade" was released in 2007 with the war thunder patch 1.35 (also known as "malatya update"). in 2009 "dark crusade: the final crusade" had been released with no additional dlcs. in 2012 the second expansion "dark crusade: armageddon" came out with the war thunder patch 1.56 and was announced as the last expansion. 39 new maps in three new campaigns the first new maps were "blackstone", "hardstone" and "errosus", while the third campaign was named "the edge of doom". "the edge of doom" was followed by four new single-player missions and four new custom maps. then, in the month of december 2011, the third expansion "dark crusade: armageddon" was released, including six new single-player missions, one new custom map and one new campaign (the last "imperium" campaign). two new maps followed. in total four campaigns and ten single-player missions were released. the expansion introduces a new metagame map called "grand crusade", also known as the solar system where the whole storyline takes place and where the player is commanding the armies of the chaos throughout the solar system. this new map is set in our solar system, in the years between 2000 and 2300 of the warhammer 40,000 timeline. this new map offers a total of 35 different maps (35 custom and 10 new), while making the whole solar system map environment playable as a single map (single player and multiplayer). additionally, 33 units are new in the expansion: five new commanders, three new daemons, five new flying units, thirteen new heavy infantry, six new vehicles and six new tanks. "grand crusade" also adds four new titan units.
