And if you never received a recovery disc when you bought your computer, there should be a recovery partition on your hard drive to reinstall Windows back. After all, you can restore your computer from a Windows backup that has already been created. In case you have lost your recovery disk and don't know where to find a copy, we will now walk you through a few options. How to get Windows recovery? Most PCs or laptops, by default, after installing Windows 8, come with a recovery partition that uses Recovery DVD CDs.
