Gopichand is the only Indian in the world who has won the World Junior Open, the Asian Junior Championship, the South Asian Junior Championship and the Asian Junior Grand Prix. He has also taken the number 1 spot in World Team Chess Championships thrice. Gopichand and Gadiraj Singh

Gopichand, born in 1976, began to play chess when he was in elementary school. He made his first International Master at the age of 18, and won the U-19 World Youth Chess Championship in 1995. From there he became one of the youngest ever chess grandmasters in 1996, and a year later he became the youngest ever Indian grandmaster.

Gopichand, who began to work at the Chennai Mathematical Institute in 2001, is said to be on par with Polgar. He is also known for his quick and acrobatic style of playing. However, like most grandmasters, he has experienced a number of ups and downs in his career. After a break of two years from 1999 to 2001, Gopichand came back strongly in 2002. He played an impressive tournament in China, where he came second, as well as winning a couple of tournaments in India. However, he suffered a slump from 2003 to 2006, and was not able to find a balance in his game. He made a comeback in 2007 and became the new India team captain. He took the national team to the final of the World Team Championship in 2008. Gopichand began 2008 in the best form of his life. He won the National Chess Championship in January and clinched the title of Grandmaster from Vijay Bhatkar. After that he became
