KeyMacro is an application that enables you to record keyboard shortcuts and convert them to macros on your computer. Why should you use this tool? The primary reason to use this tool is to record keyboard shortcuts. If you're a professional user who often needs to perform a series of actions using one or several key shortcuts, then this tool can greatly simplify your work. In fact, with KeyMacro, you can record a series of steps that involve the pressing of the certain keys. When you choose the specific command, the corresponding button will be activated. Once you have created a desired shortcut, you can save it in a file. This file can be used anytime you need to perform the actions that are described in it. With this tool, you can also convert these shortcuts into macros. To do this, you need to select a particular keyboard shortcut and then select the macro action you want to convert. KeyMacro Key Features: Apart from recording keyboard shortcuts and converting them to macros, this program also offers other features, such as using auto-playlists, generating key combinations, and recording short video clips. MacOS User Guide: To activate the Macbook/Mac desktop and start recording, click the Record button in the bottom-left corner of the application. To record a single key, click the Record button and then hit the key you want to record. To record a sequence of keys, click the Record button and then hit the desired keys using the keyboard one after another. To convert the keyboard shortcut recorded into a macro, select the macro you want to convert from the dropdown menu, then hit the Convert button. Macbook/Mac User Guide: Simply record your shortcut on this page. Then click the Convert button to convert the shortcut into a macro. Once your macro is converted, you can use it whenever you want. IMPORTANT: The desktop must be activated before starting the macro recording. This is because the shortcut is recorded using keystrokes. If the desktop is inactive, the recorder is not able to understand the sequence of keys you're trying to use. Macbook/Mac License: Macbook/Mac is a commercial software that allows you to record all your shortcuts 2edc1e01e8
