MindMaster Pro (for a full license)..Q: Using Hyphen in a database search I am developing a website which has a lot of categories and products in the database. When customers search in the database for a product, i want to show related categories. E.g. I have categories like : 5 helmets 3 shoes 2 underwears When a customer searches for 'shoes', i want to show, not only that particular product, but all the categories that are related to it. The problem is when i need to display a list of products like this: [prod1] - [head] - [shoe] - [col2] - [col3] - [col4] [prod2] - [head] - [shoe] - [col1] - [col2] - [col3] [prod3] - [head] - [shoe] - [col2] - [col1] - [col3] [prod4] - [head] - [shoe] - [col1] - [col4] - [col2] I understand that the title is not correct as i am using a hyphen as a delimiter. My question is, is there any way I can use hyphens for this? Thanks in advance. Edit: Eg. [whateveryouwant] is something i would type in the search bar. f988f36e3a
